FOUNDED
1941

Dear Librarian,

You are invited to subscribe to two of today's most essential periodicals for the study of Henry D. Thoreau, the quarterly Thoreau Society Bulletin and the annual Concord Saunterer: A Journal of Thoreau Studies. Act before 31 December 2007, and we will guarantee your subscription rate of $60 per year through 2010.

We understand that you look for and appreciate journals that enrich your programs and bring essential information to your faculty, students, and patrons. We understand this firsthand because we have our own collection, one of the most extensive anywhere on Thoreau, his life, works, and legacy. It is located in historic Walden Woods at the Thoreau Institute's Henley Library.

The Thoreau Society was founded in 1941 by world-renowned Thoreau scholar Walter Harding, who edited the Bulletin for over 50 years. The Society is the oldest and largest organization devoted to an American author. Our members have produced the majority of Thoreau scholarship during the 20th century, and our publications continue to attract and foster top-flight scholarship into the 21st.

"The Concord Saunterer is a valuable aid to studies of Thoreau."

— Harold Bloom, Yale University

"The Concord Saunterer and Thoreau Society Bulletin contain valuable historical, biographical, critical, and bibliographical information about Henry David Thoreau and Transcendental Concord to be found nowhere else."

— Lawrence Buell, Harvard University

The Thoreau Society is an allied organization of the Modern Language Association and a member organization of the American Literature Association. We host two sessions every year at both the MLA and ALA conferences. Our publications circulate nationally and internationally to 25 countries. The Bulletin and the Concord Saunterer are referenced in the American Humanities Index and the MLA International Bibliography. All articles have been peer reviewed and meet the highest standards.

Thoreau studies have broadened significantly over the last twenty years, producing some of today's most exceptional interdisciplinary work. In addition to his importance to literary studies and human rights issues, the publication of Thoreau's previously unpublished manuscripts Faith in a Seed and Wild Fruits by Bradley P. Dean has revealed his significance to the sciences, as well.

"Thoreau, who rightfully can be called the father of environmentalism, also deserves iconic status in the scientific fields of ecology and biodiversity studies.

— Edward O Wilson, Museum Comparative Zoology, Harvard University

Our publications are carried by research and public libraries around the world and are read by academics and non-academics alike. Visit our website for a listing of subscribing institutions. If you need more information, please email us at info@thoreausociety.org and put "TTS Publications" in the subject line.

Sincerely,

Michael J. Frederick
Executive Director
